August 2020 Notary News

Happy B.C. Day from Beverly Carter Notary Public! Our office will be closed Monday August 3rd for the civic holiday, but we will re-open Tuesday August 4th. Happy long weekend!

US Consulate Update: The US Consulate is now offering limited in-person appointments for US documents requiring further authentication but still prefer mail-in services.

Below are ways we are helping local businesses in Victoria, information about our upcoming series of educational sessions being offered remotely and an interesting story of the time Vicky played firefighter for the day!

Vicky's on Fire!

Vicky, our office manager, is on fire in more ways than one! Not only has Vicky been accepted into the Notary program starting in September, which includes beginning a Masters of Applied Legal Studies at SFU, but she was also a fire fighter for the day! Recently Vicky noticed a burning bush outside our office caused (we believe) by a discarded cigarette from someone in the Tim Hortons drive-thru which is in front of our office. Multiple trips with a recycling bin filled with water showcased Vicky's awesome firefighting skills! Further, there was a garden fire from another cigarette near her home that she put out! What are the odds. A reminder to all that it is a dry season so be careful with possible ignition sources.

Upcoming Zoom & Learn Series

We are taking a well-earned summer break from our Zoom & Learn series, but we will be running a new series entitled "The Death Series". In our BC Notary world, we approach the documents related to dying so we thought it would be interesting to provide an educational series that shows other aspects on the subject of death. Series to begin late September 2020. Dates and times to be confirmed as we finalize our guest speakers.

Anticipated topics we will explore include:

- The Death Series: The Philosophy of Death
- The Death Series: What Shade of Grey is your Will?
- The Death Series: Meet the Mortician
- The Death Series: Insights from a Medium
- The Death Series: Discussions with a Death Doula
- The Death Series: Who is in Charge After You Die?
- The Death Series: Life at All Costs

In anticipation of Make a Will Week, October 4-10, 2020, we will also be re-running our Zoom & Learn basics: Powers of Attorneys, DIY vs Professional Wills, Remote Signings, and Health Representation Agreements. Dates to follow.
